UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

CONVERSATION BETWEEN RFK AND
GOVERNOR BARNETT, THURSDAY,
SEPT. 27, 1962 AT 2:50.

RFK: Hello.

BARNETT: Hello General.

RFK: Fine, Governor, how are you?

BARNETT: I need a little sleep.

RFK: I just talked to Mr. Watkins and we were going to make this effort at 5 o'clock this afternoon your time.

BARNETT: They will be here about 5 o'clock our time?

RFK: Is that satisfactory?

BARNETT: Yes, sir. That's all right.

RFK: I will send the Marshals that I have available up there in Memphis and I expect there will be about 25 or 30 of them and they will come with Mr.

Meredith and they will arrive wherever the gate is and I will have the head Marshal pull a gun and I will have the rest of them have their hands on their guns and their holsters. And then as I understand it he will go through and get in and you will make sure that law and order is preserved and that no harm will be done to Mr. Mc-

Shane and Mr. Meredith.

BARNETT: Oh, yes.

RFK: And then I think you will see that's accomplished?

BARNETT: Yes—(inaudible)

—Hold just a minute, will you?

Hello, General, I was under the impression that they were all going to pull their guns.

"This could be very embarrassing. We got a big crowd here and if one pulls his gun and we all turn it would be very embarassing. Isn't it possible to have them all pull their guns?

RFK: I hate to have them all draw their guns at I think it could create harsh feelings. Isn't it sufficient if I have one man draw his gun and the others keep their hands on their holsters?

BARNETT: They all must draw their guns. They should point them at the gun as they all turn and we will stand aside and you will go right through.

RFK: You will make sure not the Marshals but the State Police will preserve law and order?

BARNETT: There won't be any violence.

RFK: Then we can get all the other people out as soon as possible.

BARNETT: One second, General, we expect them all to draw their guns. Lt. Governor

Johnson is sitting here with me

(inaudible). Will you talk to him?

JOHNSON: General—

RFK: How are you?

JOHNSON: It is absolutely necessary that they all draw their guns. There won't be any shooting.

RFK: Can you speak a little louder?

JOHNSON: We are telling them to lay their clubs aside and to leave their guns in their automobiles. But it is necessary to have all your people draw their guns, not just one. (Inauaudible) and anyone who shoots at all to leave. We appreciate what they have done so far and go back home and draw their guns. There would be no shooting under any circumstances.

RFK: The one problem—

when we come down there representing the Federal Government and draw guns it's going to disturb your people, understandably—

JOHNSON: As much as it would bother them if they just drew one gun and 350 highway patrolmen—

RFK: If they all draw their guns and they go into the university, thereafter, law and order will be preserved by your people?

JOHNSON: We are going to attempt to preserve it.

RFK: They won't leave, will they? What I want to be sure is that it won't be left up to our people.

JOHNSON: We can possibly leave many people up here today. We will do that.

RFK: As I understand from

Mr. Watkins and from the Governor, law and order will be preserved by the local police. I don't anticipate a great problem but I don't want an angry crowd descending on Oxford this evening. You'll be sure?

JOHNSON: Yes.

RFK: I don't care how you do it just as long as you take that responsibility.

JOHNSON: (Inaudible)—all

be on this campus.

RFK: So I've got assurance that no harm will come to Mr. Mc-

Shane and the Marshals.

JOHNSON: Not as far as we're concerned.

RFK: We will do anything to preserve law and order.

JOHNSON: We will do everything to preserve law and order at all times.

RFK: As long as I have the Governor's assurance and you.

JOHNSON: To the best of our ability. I believe that we have sufficient men to take care of it.

RFK: Let me talk to the Governor again.

RFK: Governor, that's all I wanted. That's the best thing in the long run.

BARNETT: (Inaudible) There won't be any violence. We will control them if there are a few thousand at the state office building and we didn't have a lot of trouble.

RFK: Just as long as it is left at the local level. They will be there at 5 o'clock and draw their guns.

BARNETT: We are going to step aside if they do that.

RFK: If there is any problem

you will call me.

BARNETT: I will General.

CONVERSATION BETWEEN RFK AND

RFK: Governor, now he is on his way and should be there about 5:30.

BARNETT: About 5:30.

RFK: He left around—your time—2:30, and I think it takes almost three hours.

JOHNSON: Flying from Washington?

RFK: No, he is in Memphis

but he is on the other side of Memphis. They are driving down.

BARNETT: About 5:30. I have about 22 minutes to four now.

All right.

RFK: The thing is we just received a report from the FBI regarding instructions to state police down there and that they have been told these Marshals are coming and told that you want to preserve law and order and there is not to be any disorder, and that once this fellow gets into the University it is the responsibility of the Marshals to preserve law and order. I didn't want a misunderstanding.

RFK: If they all draw their

guns and they go into the uni-

Cooler mornings and evenings are always a help to fishing, especially bass and perch. The water is naturally on the cooler side and makes the fish strike harder.

As to fishing for speckles, white trout and rods, reports have come in that they are being caught out in the marshes most anywhere. The largest however, are being caught at Mitchell Key, Free Mason and Chandelur Island. Such places as Jordan River, Heron Bay, Campbell's Bayou and the mouth of Pearl River are furnishing their share of specks, flounders and red fish. Shrimp are still plentiful and can be purchased at most all fishing camps at Pearl River, Kelly's Camp on Mulatto Bayou, Boudages Camp on Bayou Caddy, Cospelich's Camp on Joe's Bayou and dead shrimp at Ladner's Sea Food Market on Hancock St.

Passing along the word to those who don't know it, all kinds of fishing tackle can be purchased at Mauffray's Hardware Store, Kingston's Barber Shop at Hancock and Union Streets, Al has Western Auto Store and at Al put in a stock of new plugs for trolling and casting for speckles. They are hard to beat when it comes to catching fish. Alden Mauffray and John Scudder, Jr., got some nice green trout and speckles Sunday at Pearl River. Of course they missed some big ones.

August Hunter and Perry Quintal made a good catch of speckles Saturday out in the marshes.

Gene Jansinger and Tony Benigge caught some flounders Sunday night out there. That's good news for those who like to flounder.

George M. Keeler who sails from Bogalusa, La., is expected to do some fly fishing when he gets straightened out. George is with the Corps of Engineers at NASA.

Now is the top season for surface plugs when fishing for black bass.

"Too many fishermen," says Dick Kotis, president of the Fred Arbogast Company, "stop using surface plugs after the hot summer nights are gone." Kotis advocates stretching the surface fishing season into the fall months. "Big bass," he says, "are still coming to the top to feed, especially mornings and evenings, and mid-afternoons." Even when the air temperatures feel too cold to fishermen, the water temperatures may still be fine for surface feeding bass. According to Kotis, water temperatures between 58 and 65 degrees are ideal.

The Arbogast people, long-time specialists in surface baits, recently brought out a new natural looking version of their famous old Hula Popper and Jitterbug. This "flocked" bait is coated with a soft, fur-like material to give it a natural, mouse-like look, in either brown or black. Bass can't keep away from it.

How's this?
Fish frozen about 1,100 years ago have been found in Antarctica's Ross Ice Shelf, the National Geographic Magazine says. The specimens were in remarkable state of preservation.

Ralph Dupas' return bout is November 25.

Italy's Sandro Mazzinghi, world junior middleweight boxing champion, will meet Ralph Dupas of New Orleans in a return match in Sydney, Australia, Nov. 25, it was announced Sunday.

Mazzinghi took the title from Dupas here last Sept. 7, knocking him out in the ninth round.

The Italian fighter plans to leave for Australia by air Nov. 14.

Ralph has a lot of followers in the Bay who will be looking forward to this bout.

Sorry to hear of the death of Kenneth W. Pepperdene last Friday. He had been a long time resident of Bay St. Louis and had many friends here. He was a sailing enthusiast and was Commodore of the local Yacht Club.

The chief respiratory organ of a fish are its gills. When catching an undersized fish be careful not to injure the gills. A hook gorging will save the life of a fish when removing the hook. Protect our little fish, they will grow up to be real big ones which you will be proud to catch later.

The laymen's dinner of Christ Episcopal Church will be held Wednesday, Nov. 6th. Attend and meet a bunch of good sports.

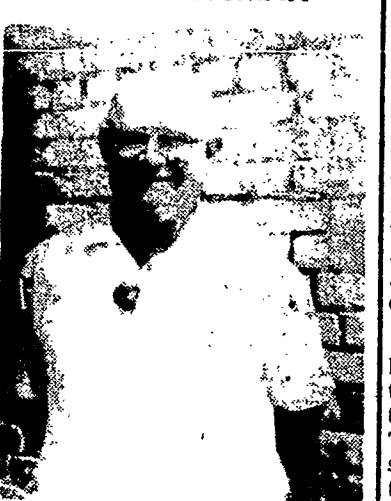

Open season on game fish: There is no closed season on game fish. No size limits. Bag limits: Black bass, 15 per day; striped bass, 30 per day; crappie or white perch, 30 per day; bream, goggle-eye and all other sunfish or combination of all, 50 per day. Aggregate daily limit of all kinds, 75 per day; possession limit:

not more than two daily bag limits of game fish.

When purchasing a hunting or fishing license ask for a digest of sport fishing, hunting, laws and regulations. This pamphlet contains a lot of information for hunters and fishermen.

There will be a Turkey Tournament at Pass Christian Golf Club from October 28th through November 3rd. A entry fee of $1.00 will be charged. Low net. Enter as many times as you wish. The tournament is for men and lady members. Cal Smith, pro will see that all playing will have a good time.

LOCAL SPORTSMAN

ALDEN MAUFFRAY

Alden likes most all kinds of sports but his favorite is fly fishing. He hunts and plays golf and is good at both. An old-timer, he has gotten his share of game and fish. Uncle Aldy as he likes to be called is always ready to go.

He has worked with scouts for a number of years and is a past master when leading the boys in playing games. In fact, he was

MORE POWER TO THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

(BY JOHN C. SATTERFIELD)
Past Pres. Amer. Bar Ass'n

The civil rights of all Americans are guaranteed by the Constitution. But recent studies show that President Kennedy's civil rights bill may give the Attorney General powers apparently prohibited by the Constitution. This strong shift in the thrust of federal power is especially notable in the matter of voting rights. It destroys more civil rights of more citizens than it protects.

Every state can set the qualifications of voters. It is the duty of each state to protect its citizens against those who are incapable of casting a democratic vote.

As recently as 1859, the U. S. Supreme Court held that the plain words of the Constitution require voters in federal elections to meet the standards set in each state. And in the question of the poll tax, many state legislatures have agreed that only a Constitutional amendment can set it aside as a qualification in federal elections.

But the President's civil rights bill attempts to set aside the poll tax at a time when no Constitutional amendment has been passed. The Attorney General could file suit to ignore one of the qualifications which the citizens of a state have set up under the guarantees of the U. S. Constitution.

In a second provision, the President also seeks to give the Attorney General power to ignore a state's literacy test in a case where a voter applicant has completed six years of school. It is important to note that this infringement of the rights of the citizens in each state is not based on race.

A few weeks ago, the President indicated that the problem of illiteracy was widespread. He said that one-fourth of all the young men who took selective service examinations failed the mental test. One man out of four could not fulfill his civic duties because he could not read or do simple arithmetic.

Nevertheless, the President would allow the Attorney General to bring suit to force many of these same men onto the voting rolls. The President would do this even though the Constitution and the Supreme Court have explicitly left this power to the states - which are in a better position to guard their citizens against an illiterate electorate.

In still a third provision, the President directs his brother to intervene in any state or federal election he chooses. The Attorney General is empowered to set aside the local voting officials. He need only allege to a federal court that less than 15 per cent of the prospective qualified voters of any race have not been registered in that district.

Without taking evidence or making any finding, the court must immediately appoint temporary federal voting referees. The federal referees will then interpret the qualifications of applicants as they see fit. And then the election will be held.

After the election has been decided, the court will proceed to take evidence on the Attorney General's allegation. If it is found to be weak or in error, it will be dismissed, and the unqualified voters removed from the rolls.

But whatever the final outcome of the complaint, the election is valid. Civil rights experts have concluded that this procedure violates the due process of law which guaranteed to all citizens by the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution. Due process requires that no matter be decided until after hearings and a fair trial. But the method chosen by the President allows the Attorney General to attain his desired end before the case is decided.

For these reasons, more and more observers feel that this extension of the Attorney General's power into the everyday lives of citizens is a disturbing prospect. They feel that the President's civil rights bill consists of 90 per cent federal power and 10 per cent civil rights.

LOCAL SUPPORT DEVELOPS STATE

Mississippians are increasingly giving thought to means and ways in which they can develop the agricultural, industrial, and recreational resources of this great state. There are fine opportunities for progress in all three of these major areas.

It is apparent that the primary responsibility and the greatest opportunity for the accelerated growth and fuller development of our state rests on the local leaders in the thousands of communities throughout Mississippi.

If local leaders and communities show a genuine interest in local development, there are numerous agencies, specialists, and groups, who can help them with their plans and programs. The state extension service has specialists in many fields. The State & I Board stands ready to help. There are numerous other state and federal agencies qualified and equipped to aid in many ways. If every rural community and every town and city in Mississippi carried out one or more new projects each year, the state as a whole would move forward with greater speed toward the development of a better state.

NASA News..

The U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, serving as real estate agent for NASA, has called for bids for two contracts for providing elements of the navigation system to serve the new Mississippi Test Operations of the Marshall Space Flight Center, where rocket stages and engines will be ground tested before launching in the Apollo moon landing program.

Huge Saturn boosters fabricated at the NASA Michoud Operations Center in New Orleans will be barged directly to test stands at the Mississippi Test Operations of the Marshall Space Flight Center, where rocket stages and engines will be ground tested before launching in the Apollo moon landing program.

The availability of water transportation for the heavy and bulky materials of the space program was a major factor in the selection of the site of the Mississippi Test Operations.

Bids will be opened on November 14 for the construction of a section of the main perimeter canal, which will provide water access to branch canals serving the various test positions. The section will extend along the south and southeast boundary for about 2.8 miles from a lock which will lift vessels approximately 20 feet from the level of the East Pearl River to the level of the canal system. The canal will be excavated and embankments will be constructed to provide a 15-foot depth over a bottom width of 150 feet. The job will include the construction of a concrete-surfaced spillway, 57 timber-pile mooring dolphins at barge holding areas and docks, and 3 miles of bituminous surfaced canal patrol road.

Bids will be opened on November 19 to provide a channel 13 feet deep and 150 feet wide from the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway at the Rigolets to the Mississippi Test Operations. The job will include deepening, widening and straightening the channel where required from about a mile south of the former site of Gainesville, Mississippi, down the East Pearl River for about 17 miles, through East Pass, to the Rigolets, and dredging a canal about .8 miles long from the harbor area in the southwest corner of the test site to the lock.

Dredging the harbor and the upper one-mile section of the navigation channel in the East Pearl River is now under way under two contracts previously awarded by the Army Engineers to T. I. James & Company, Inc., of Ruston, Louisiana. Bids for the construction of the lock will be opened October 31.

Competitive bids for the two jobs being advertised at this time will be opened at the district office of the Corps of Engineers in Mobile, Alabama.

Bidding will be restricted to small business concerns in the interest of assuring such firms a fair share of Government work.

Colonel D. A. Raymond, U. S. Army District Engineer at Mobile, Alabama, announced today the award of a $58,725 contract to the Layne-Connell Company of Jackson, Mississippi, for drilling a well for industrial water supply at the Mississippi Test Operations, where the Marshall Space Flight Center will ground test rocket stages and engines for use in the Apollo manned lunar landing program.

Work is expected to begin shortly and to be completed in January 1964.

The Corps of Engineers sent advance notices soliciting bids on this job to 440 contractors and materials suppliers, furnished plans and specifications on request to 7 prime contractors and 2 sub-contractors and material suppliers, and received 3 bids from prime contractors. This contract was set aside for award to a small business firm.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. - Engineers have called for bids for the construction of two key portions of a water navigation system which will be used in transporting huge rocket stages to the NASA-Marshall Space Flight Center's Mississippi Test Operations.

The projects - a section of a main perimeter canal and a 17-mile river dredging job - will be connected at the entrance to the test site by a navigation lock.

The lock construction job was recently advertised along with requests for bids for building three new structures - a Central Control Building, Data Handling Center and Data Acquisition Facility.

The main perimeter canal - which will provide water access to branch canals serving the various test positions - will extend along the site's south and southeast boundary for about 2.8 miles from the lock.

A channel will be excavated and embankments will be constructed to provide a 15-foot depth over a bottom 150 feet wide. The job will include the construction of a concrete-surfaced spillway, 57 timber-pile mooring dolphins at barge holding areas and docks, and three miles of bituminous surfaced canal-patrol road.

Bids will be opened on November 14.

The second project will be dredging a channel 13 feet deep and 150 feet wide from the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway to the Mississippi Test Operations.

SENATOR STENNIS CONTINUES ATTACK ON ADMINISTRATION

WASHINGTON - Senator John Stennis continued his attack on the Administration by protesting to Acting Secretary of Commerce Herbert W. Klotz the "unlawful manner" in which the accelerated public works program is discriminating against Mississippi.

In a prolonged conference in the Senate office, Stennis told Klotz the Department of Commerce has "violated the will of the Congress" by not approving a single public works project in Mississippi since May, except for the all-Negro community of Mound Bayou.

"While Mississippi was receiving approval for this one project," Stennis said, "Kentucky received 70 projects, Michigan 168, Pennsylvania 119 and West Virginia 95. Stennis, a ranking member of the pattern is obvious."

Stennis, a ranking member of the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee, told Klotz, "I have written special letters of protest to Appropriations Committee Chairman, Senator Carl Hayden, and Commerce Secretary Luther Hodges regarding this serious matter."

Giordano, who is director of the Giordano Dance Studio in Evanston, Ill., and the Chicago Company of DANCE, Inc., has an impressive list of credits in the dance and show business world, as a performer, choreographer, and teacher.

He has performed in the following hit Broadway musicals: Brigadoon, Guys and Dolls, Pajama Game, Texas! Lili, and Wish You Were Here. He has also danced on such well-known television shows as Ed Sullivan, Spike Jones, Jerry Lewis, and Perry Como.

Giordano's choreography credits are too numerous to mention here. They include many industrial shows, television shows and commercials, summer stock, musical comedy, and touring nightclub reviews.

This will be the fourth in the popular series of annual Master Lessons in Jazz offered by the University of Southern Mississippi.

USM TO PRESENT DANCE LESSON IN MODERN JAZZ

HATTIESBURG - A Master Dance Lesson in Modern Jazz will be presented by the Physical Education Department at the University of Southern Mississippi on Tuesday, November 5, at 7:30 p. m. in the Sports Arena on campus.

Conducting the Lesson will be Gus Giordano, one of the leading exponents and practitioners of the jazz dance form in the United States today.

The Master Lesson was announced by Mrs. Frances Jellinek Myers, assistant professor of Health and Physical Education and director of dance at Southern.

There will be no charge for participants or spectators. College and junior college modern dance students and teachers as well as advanced dancing school students are invited to participate. Anyone who is interested may attend as a spectator. Dressing facilities will be available and there is ample parking space for automobiles and buses.

For complete information, write: Frances Jellinek Myers, Box 177, Southern Station, Hattiesburg, Miss.

Hybridization is being used in a long-range breeding program designed to produce late blooming varieties that will yield good crops of high oil content fruit and will be resistant to disease.

While work on the breeding program progresses, some temporary expedients are being tried. Growth regulators are being screened in a search for a chemical which can be sprayed on the trees to delay blooming and increase cold resistance.

Maleic hydrazide applications made in October gave some protection to buds as indicated by a slightly higher yield from treated trees. Over thirty other chemicals have been given preliminary tests but most of them had little effect on bud opening. Effects of maleic hydrazide and growth regulators were reflected in crop loss resulting from the freeze of March 6, 1962 in the Experiment at Agricola, Mississippi. Plots having received 5 or 10 applications of maleic hydrazide yielded 5 to 10 per acre. Plots in Babi grass and with low fertilization produced no crop.

Although cold damaged the 1962 crop severely, Mr. Kilby said coverage of trees and bolls was 60 per cent of a normal 1963.

Social Security

Social Security benefits may be payable to you even though you earn more than $1200 in a year. If you are receiving benefits based on an estimate of earnings for the present year, be certain to notify your social security office of any increase or decrease in your estimated earnings. Report any increase promptly to avoid overpayment of benefits; otherwise your checks may have to be suspended to make up for any overpayments. Only earnings for wages or from your business should be considered. Here is another important point you should know: if you are 72 years of age or more, you can get a social security check every month no matter what you earn for the year. You can get full information at your social security office on how your earnings may affect your monthly benefits. Ask for booklet No. 23, or talk to your social security representative. Your social security district office is located at 1022 32nd Avenue in Gulfport. The phone number is UN-4-2022.

Jim Branch works in our local bank. I've known him for years. We went to school together. But I never felt I could come right out and ask him why he never goes to church. One night when we both happened to get into a confidential frame of mind, the words came easier.

He told me that — of all things — it was because he hated this business of passing the plate for money. He said he saw enough money at the bank all week without seeing it worshipped on Sunday too.

I admit this shocked me. That's why I told him, frankly, that I thought he'd completely missed the point. I told him our minister once said that it gives him a good feeling when he receives the collection; not because this is money but because the people are giving the fruit of their own efforts to God. In the old days, it might have been a sheep, or the choicest fruits and vegetables from the harvest. Today, it's dollars and cents. But the motive is still the same, and it's a good motive.

I saw Jim at the morning service a couple of weeks ago, and something tells me that it won't be long before he'll be getting the point . . . not missing it!

Paul Johnson Successfully Bids for Negro Minority Votes in the One-Party Democrat Primary

Planning campaign strategy, newspaper editor Percy Greene and other Negro political leaders meet on night before primary. Jackson Advocate editor and other Negro politicians kept name of man they were backing secret until night before election. They felt publicity on Negro support of candidate Paul Johnson, Jr. would hurt him.

NEGROES VOTE IN MISSISSIPPI

Candidates ignore colored vote publicly but bid for black ballots in secret

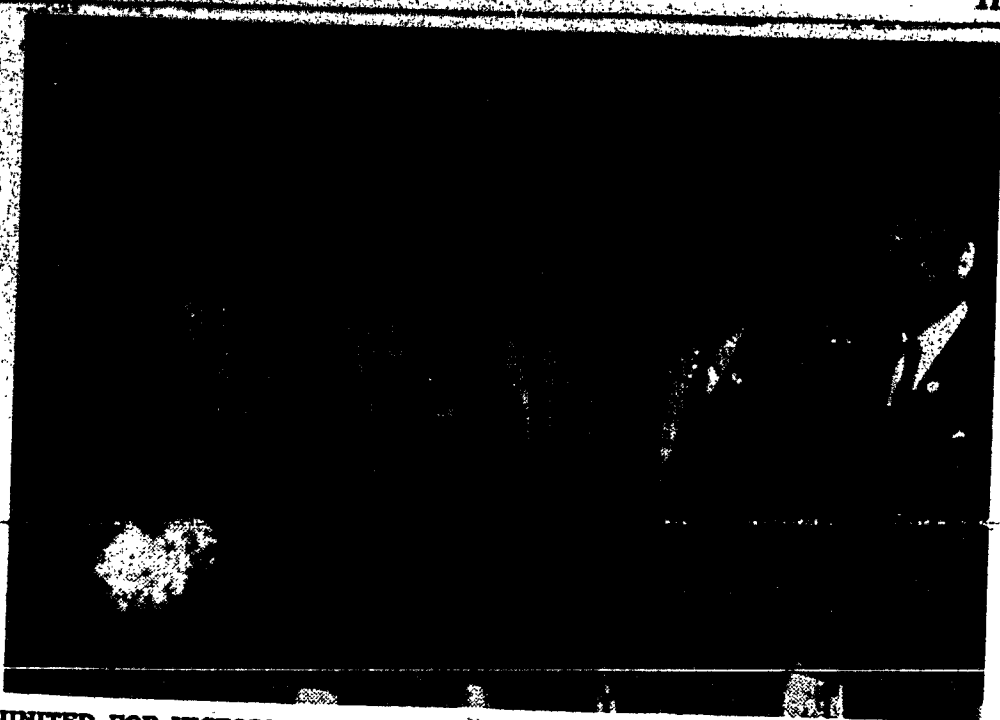

TO MOST AMERICANS Mississippi is considered the most backward state in the nation. Its treatment of its Negro citizens is acknowledged to be the worst in any state. But Mississippi is changing swiftly. No better proof can be found of this political and social revolution than the remarkable state primaries this year in which more Negroes voted than any time since the hectic days of Reconstruction. Going to the polls some 20,000 strong in the formerly all-white Democratic primaries, colored Mississippians cast enough ballots to provide a balance of power which resulted in a strong showing for the candidate Negroes supported secretly—Paul Johnson, Jr. Although Johnson lost in a campaign complicated by eight gubernatorial candidates, a record number in Mississippi history, the Negro voters found their relatively small number (almost 400,000 people went to the polls) a potent even if publicly disregarded force. In one of the strangest political campaigns of modern times, the office seekers publicly ignored the record Negro vote but tried every behind the scene maneuver possible to garner at least a share of the black ballots. As a result the "keep the Negro in his place" issue long made infamous by the late and unlamented Senator Theodore Bilbo was conspicuous in the campaign only by its absence. While candidates were afraid to bid for the Negro vote might hurt their chances with white voters, not even the most ardent white supremacists on the slate wanted to risk being any Negro votes.

ROCKS UPEND BEN FRANKLIN

St. Stanislaus celebrated homecoming with a 12-0 victory over Ben Franklin here Saturday night in a rugged defensive battle. The Rocks combined touchdown runs of 82-yards and two-yards by Dusty Rhodes with a granite defense to subdue a tough Ben Franklin team.

After a scoreless first period, St. Stanislaus denied the scoreboard with 7-15 left in the first half on an exciting 82-yard run by Rhodes.

The Falcons drove to the St. Stanislaus 18 before being forced to give the ball up on downs. On the first play Rhodes hit into the line, was momentarily stopped, bounced off to the outside, and outspurred the Falcon secondary. The attempted point after was fumbled and the Rocks had to settle for a 6-0 halftime lead.

Score by quarters:

St. Stanislaus - 0 0 0 0 - 12

Ben Franklin - 0 0 0 0 - 0

BAY HIGH STAYS UNBEATEN WITH FRIDAY VICTORY

Bay High protected its undefeated football record Friday night at Poplarville by handing the Poplarville Hornets a 31-7 interconference defeat.

It was the seventh win compared to one tie for the Tigers of Coach Lance Lumpkin.

After a scoreless first quarter, Bay High exploded four touchdowns in the second period then added their final tally in the fourth period. Poplarville got its only touchdown in the last quarter.

The passing combination of quarterback Leroy Luke to end Billy Thomas accounted for three of the Bay High touchdowns while the other scores were registered by halfback Dick Watts and quarterback Dick Mestayer.

Luke and Thomas teamed for the first Tiger touchdown on a 25-yard Luke to Thomas aerial. And, in the last 33 seconds of the quarter Mestayer scored from one yard out. The only extra point of the quarter was kicked by Larry Johnson following Mestayer's TD.

This score was set up when Bay High recovered a Poplarville fumble at the Hornet 28 and moved in to score in four plays.

Luke passed 46 yards to Thomas for the final Tiger tally in the fourth quarter.

Poplarville's touchdown came on a nine-yard run late in the game by halfback Wilber Riley and the extra point was kicked by Ray Magee.

Next Thursday night Bay High returns to their home stadium for its final home game of the season against Slidell.

STANISLAUS TOP SCIENCE STUDENT AWARD WINNER

The top science student in the St. Stanislaus High School, John Thomas Garst, will be the recipient at graduation of the Bausch & Lomb Honorary Science Award Medal. Brother Flavian, S. C., principal, says that the award winner is eligible to compete for annual Science Scholarships sponsored by Bausch & Lomb Incorporated at the University of Rochester.

John Garst, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Garst of Marks, Miss., has attended St. Stanislaus for three years. During these years he has attained the highest average in mathematics and science in his class. John was selected to be one of a group of 71 outstanding students to participate in the Science Institute conducted by the Mississippi State University last summer.

In 8500 secondary schools throughout the nation, the Award is presented to the graduating student with the best record in science studies. Since its introduction in 1932, there have been 170,000 winners. Surveys indicate that about one-third of this number have been encouraged by the award to attend college and follow scientific careers.

Only winners of the Honorary Science Award are eligible to compete for the Bausch & Lomb Science Scholarships. University of Rochester Scholarships are also available to Bausch & Lomb finalists. About 108 B&L and U of R Scholarships are awarded and accepted each year, with four-year values totaling $50,000.

The Rochester Scholarship Committee studies all applications and select 30 of the most promising candidates as finalists. These students are notified of their selection late in February, and are invited to Rochester for three days, in early April, with all expenses paid, for interviews and competitive tests.

Negotiate For Liquid Hydrogen

GAINESVILLE, Miss. - The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced it will negotiate with the Linde Co., a division of Union Carbide, New York, New York, and Air Products and Chemical, Inc., of Allentown, Pa., to select a contractor to supply liquid hydrogen to Mississippi Test Operations and the Marshall Space Flight Center, Huntsville, Alabama, for the Saturn launch vehicle test program.

Under the contract to be negotiated, the supplier must have capabilities of producing up to approximately 115 million pounds of liquid hydrogen from April 1, 1965 through December, 1970. However, the amount to be purchased during this period will depend on actual requirements of the testing program. The contract will be renewable on an annual basis at the option of the government and if options are exercised through December, 1970 could result in a total cost in excess of $19 million.

Primary use of the liquid hydrogen will be static testing the second stage of the Saturn V launch vehicle at the Marshall Space Test Operations. It will also be used for testing operations at the Marshall Center.

The Saturn V vehicle is the largest launch vehicle under development by the United States. It will consist of three stages of which the second and third stages will use liquid hydrogen as fuel. Use of hydrogen provides at least a 50 percent greater specific impulse than the kerosene fuel used in the first stage and results in greater payload weight to orbit.

The contract will be awarded to the supplier who can produce the liquid hydrogen and a storage and docking facility which is available to NASA. The price is to be in accordance with the cost of production.

FORESTRY NOTES

A highlight of the featuring the latest in hair styles program will be a show by Fendren Beauty, Inc., of Jackson.

General Chairman for the event is J. R. Tobermann of Brookhaven, District Forester for International Paper Company. Chairmen of the various annual meeting committees include: Attendance - Beryl Toler, Tennessee River Pulp and Paper Company, Tupelo; Entertainment, Lionel Johnson, U. S. Forest Service, Jackson; Exhibits - Jim Leachman, International Paper Company, Natchez.

Registration - Purvis Huff, Forestry Consultants, Jackson; Program - J. N. Kutack, International Paper Co., Mobile, Alabama; Physical Arrangements - John Fernwood, American Box Company, Fernwood.

Tickets for the luncheon may be obtained in advance from the Mississippi Forestry Association, King Edward Hotel, Jackson, Mississippi, or from members of the MFA Board of Directors. Luncheon tickets will also be available at the door.

The Mississippi Forestry Association is a statewide organization of individuals and companies interested in forestry development. The MFA's membership includes wood-using industries, equipment dealers, banks, tree farmers, and others.

Current officers of the association in addition to President Craig are Vice President Warren A.

Shown above is a tractor-plow unit of the Mississippi Forestry Commission suppressing one of the hundreds of forest fires which have broken out over the state during the current drought. To the prompt and efficient action taken by Commission crews and cooperating crews of other agencies and industries the average size of the fires has been held relatively small. Forestry officials state, however, that a continuation of the drought coupled with a few days with high winds will cause the fire situation to become extremely difficult to control.

The lack of the normal amount of rain over the state for the past 18 months in conjunction with the extreme drought conditions which have prevailed for the past three months have brought about a forest fire situation that can only be defined as critical and potentially explosive according to State Forester Jack Holman.

"Forestry Commission crews have suppressed more than nine hundred fires this month," he said. Average fire occurrence for October over the past three years has been 231 fires.

In a move to strengthen the Commission's fire control force during this critical period Holman announced that all Commission personnel are being placed on fire duty until such time as the state receives sufficient rain to relieve the situation.

Holman stated that while it was regrettable to have to curtail the Commission's forest management assistance and advice program to landowners, as well as other programs, it was necessary to give full attention to the fire situation as long as present conditions continue.

Suppression crews have been able, by prompt and efficient action, to hold the hundreds of fires to relatively small average size. Forestry officials fear, however, that should we have a few days with high winds that the situation would be difficult to handle.

All people are urged to be extremely careful with fire and to postpone burning of brush piles, fields and all other outside burning until the fire danger becomes less critical.

Mr. and Mrs. George Flieter and daughter Nanette, of Long Beach and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lafontaine and son Edward Jr., of Kenner, La., were Sunday guests of their sister Miss Frances Fautetta.

REPUBLICAN LIES EXPOSED

Governor Ross Barnett and Lieutenant Governor Paul B. Johnson flatly denied the form and substance of a full page advertisement which was submitted to all newspapers of this state for publication this week.

This libelous document shows neither its author nor its source and is an obvious attempt to discredit Mississippi's strongest champions of segregation and local self-government. It carefully omits authorization or responsibility by the Republican party or either of its candidates for Governor and Lieutenant Governor.

This false transcript of a purported conversation and cunning fabrication of the imagination is merely another effort on the part of Jack and Bobby Kennedy to defeat Paul Johnson's candidacy for Governor of Mississippi. The Kennedys will do anything in their power to defeat Paul Johnson.

Mississippians will stand fast behind the leaders who stood courageously for them at Oxford and who now stand charged with criminal contempt for so doing by the Kennedy brothers. Mississippians will not be misled by last minute lies of this kind. They do not approve of this type of scurrilous campaign and will express their condemnation at the polls on November 5.

Mississippians will give Paul Johnson and all other Mississippi Democratic Nominees a great victory over all Republicans on Tuesday, November 5.

Mississippians Are Not Stupid

Mississippi has two strong, conservative Democratic U. S. Senators: Sen. Eastland and Sen. Stennis.

It has five outstanding conservative Democratic U. S. Congressmen: Colmer, Whitten, Abernathy, Williams and Winstead.

Each of these men are against the Kennedys and each of them are for the election of Paul B. Johnson, Jr., as Governor, and Carroll Gartin as Lt. Governor.

The people of Mississippi have nominated Mississippi Democrats to every office in the state, including 99.44/100 per cent of the State Legislature.

These elected officials are Conservative Democrats and they have urged the election of Paul B. Johnson, Jr., for Governor and Carroll Gartin for Lt. Governor.

The people of Hancock County elected Democrats to every office in the county and these officials have endorsed the election of Paul B. Johnson, Jr., for Governor and Carroll Gartin for Lt. Governor.

Mississippians, through the leadership of Governor Barnett and Lt. Governor Johnson during the past four years, have gained more industrial prominence than any previous period of history. Through their courageous stand against the Kennedys and other outside meddlers our schools are the only public schools in the United States presently segregated.

TRAGEDY

The Kennedys, in their attempt to persecute Mississippians, its Governor, Ross Barnett, and Lt. Governor Paul B. Johnson, have caused enough confusion. They, and their cohorts, still have the Governor and Lt. Governor under contempt and threaten them with a heavy daily fine for standing up against them.

Since the conservative Democrats of Mississippi have banded together for the past four years in a common fight, it would be nothing short of tragedy to split ranks now and "take in" two so-called "Republicans" to bring about chaos and confusion at home.

MISSISSIPPIANS WILL NOT BE FOOLED

Mississippians will not be fooled by all of the $300,000 worth of outside professional advertising gimmicks practiced on the people by these so-called "Republican" candidates.

The Republican candidate slogan is "KO the Kennedys" but Kennedy's friends the A. F. of L. and C. I. O., endorsed the Republican candidate this week.

BEAR THIS IN MIND

The Mississippi Democrats are not bound to the National Democratic Party and do not have to abide by the decision of the National Party.

BUT

The Republicans of Mississippi are affiliated with the National Republican Party and will have to abide by the decision of the National Party - even to support Rockefeller! (The Mississippi Republican Party rejected Goldwater in 1960 to nominate Nixon).

REMEMBER

This race is for Governor and Lt. Governor of Mississippi - not President of the United States! Listening to the Republican candidates, you hear nothing of their experience and qualifications for the office they seek but only condemnation of the record of the conservative Democrats of Mississippi.

MISSISSIPPIANS ARE NOT STUPID

They will discount all of the half-truths, innuendos, false advertising and promises of the Republican candidates but will recall the progress made, and to be made, by Paul B. Johnson, Jr., and Carroll Gartin as leaders of our state.

Mississippians will elect

Paul B. Johnson as Governor and Carroll Gartin as Lt. Governor.

AND ELECT

All Mississippi Democratic nominees on Tuesday, November 5th.
